INTRODUCTION OF CONTAGIOUS AND INFECTIOUS DIS-

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I transmit herewith a communication from the president of the National Board of Health, calling attention to the necessity for additional legislation to prevent the introduction of contagious and infectious diseases into the United States from foreign countries.

The subject is commended to the careful consideration of Congress.

EXECUTIVE MANSION,

NATIONAL BOARD OF HEALTH,
Washington, D. C., March 10, 1882.

His Excellency C. A. ARTHUR,
President of the United States:

SIR: I am directed by the executive committee of the National Board of Health to report to your Excellency that this office has received reliable information that small-pox is still prevailing to an alarming extent in many States along the lines of transportation of immigrants. The special dangers arising from this source appear to be twofold: Particular localities are imperiled by the actual introduction of the disease from abroad, and the enormous influx of persons unprotected by previous vaccination supplies the condition for the certain spread of the infection, and its transmission from one State into others.

It is believed that both sources of danger will continue to exist in increasing proportions during the current year. The experience of the last few months has demonstrated the fact that the act entitled "An act to prevent the introduction of contagious and infectious diseases into the United States from foreign countries, and from one State into another," approved June 2, 1879, as well as the rules and regulations made by this board in conformity with the provisions of that act, and approved by your Excellency November 14, 1881, are inoperative, for the reason that they apply only to infected ports, and that the law officers of the government find it difficult or impossible to obtain legal proof of the fact of infection at the date of sailing of any given vessel. Furthermore the act does not make adequate provision for the evil of which the local health authorities chiefly complain; that, namely, of the continued influx of unvaccinated immigrants. The collection of large numbers of susceptible subjects in circumscribed localities into which the infection had been previously introduced makes it inevitable that the disease shall not only spread within the limits of these localities, but also that it shall be transmitted into neighboring States.

The former difficulty will be met by such amendments to the act of June 2, 1879, as will make its provisions applicable to all vessels sailing from any foreign port without imposing upon the government the obligation to prove that such port is infected. The other evil would seem to require for its effectual cure a specific provision requiring the vaccination of all immigrants not previously protected, as an apparently necessary means of preventing the introduction and continuous development of small-pox in the United States.

The executive committee would further recommend that every vessel clearing from any foreign port should be required to obtain a bill of health in the form prescribed by the National Board of Health, which form met the approval of the International Sanitary Conference at Washington, March 1, 1881.

If the suggestion of such amendments meets the approval of your Excellency it is respectfully requested that you will, in a special message to Congress, call the attention of that body to the urgency of the danger, and recommend suitable action at the earliest practicable moment.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

J. L. CABELL,

STEAMSHIP COMMUNICATION BETWEEN SAN FRANCISCO AND SYDNEY, NEW SOUTH WALES.

LETTER

FROM

THE POSTMASTER GENERAL,

TRANSMITTING

A communication from the colonial secretary of New South Wales, urging the importance of maintaining direct steamship communication between San Francisco and Sydney, New South Wales.

---

MARCH 14, 1882.—Referred to the Committee on Appropriations and ordered to be printed.

---

POST-OFFICE DEPARTMENT,
Washington, D. C., March 13, 1882.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit, for the consideration of Congress, a communication addressed to me by Sir Henry Parkes, colonial secretary of New South Wales, under date of 10th March instant, respecting the present direct mail steamship communication between San Francisco and Sydney, New South Wales, under contract between the colonial governments of New Zealand and New South Wales, and the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, which contract will expire during the next year (1883), and urging the importance to the commercial interests of the United States of maintaining this service after that time.

Congress at its last session voted an appropriation of $40,000, to be paid during the current fiscal year to the governments of New Zealand and New South Wales in aid of this service, and as the subject matter of the accompanying communication from the colonial secretary of New South Wales is of considerable importance, I respectfully commend it to the consideration of Congress.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

T. O. HOWE,
Postmaster-General.

Hon. J. W. KEIFER,
Speaker House of Representatives.

NEW YORK, March 10, 1882.

SIR: Referring to my interview with you at Washington on the 24th ultimo, I have now the honor to submit for consideration the following particulars relating to the Pacific mail service:

I may be permitted to state that, more than any other person in Australia, I am responsible for opening direct mail communication between that part of the British dominions and the United States of America. More than twenty years ago I advocated, in my place in the Parliament of New South Wales, the establishment of a trans-Pacific service not only for the conveyance of the mails to and from America and Europe, but with the view of promoting commercial relations between the United States and the Australian colonies.

I was in office as premier in 1873, when the existing contract for the conveyance of the mails between San Francisco and Sydney was made.

This contract expires toward the close of next year, and I shall confine my remarks to the importance of maintaining the service after that time.

The present service is performed by four steamships of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, of about 3,000 tons each, and the passages between San Francisco and Sydney are made with tolerable regularity and nearly always within contract time.

The service was established in 1873 by the governments of New South Wales and New Zealand agreeing to pay jointly an annual subsidy of £80,000 sterling to the company.

I am not quite certain about the amount of subsidy, but the proportion paid by New South Wales is £40,000.

The statement of the accountant to the Sydney general post-office, which I append, will show that the service has been a heavy burden to New South Wales, involving a net cost in eight years of £214,982 sterling; and, further, that the mail matter of this colony can be satisfactorily conveyed by other routes.

On behalf of my government, however, I believe I can say that we are desirous of continuing the service after the expiration of the present contract.

But I do not think our Parliament would assent to New South Wales entering into a new contract on the unequal terms of the present one.

It must be self-evident that the Government of the United States has a material and rapidly-expanding interest in the maintenance of direct communication with Australasia.

The six Australian colonies and New Zealand have now a population closely approaching 3,000,000 of souls, and the increase of population is proceeding in a greater ratio than that of most other countries.

The markets for American products and manufactures are large, and will be larger every year.

Already American merchants have established themselves in all the cities of Australia and New Zealand.

If New South Wales and New Zealand again consent to enter into a contract for carrying on the Pacific mail-service, it seems only reasonable and just that the United States should bear an equal share of the necessary expenditure.

Her interest in maintaining the communication now opened is obviously much greater than that of New South Wales, and equally as great as the interest of New Zealand.

I send with this letter a chart of the Pacific Ocean, showing the track of the mail steamers.

I believe it is generally held that the service might be improved so as to bring the mail delivery between Sydney and New York and London within shorter time.

I have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant,

HENRY PARKES,

Colonial Secretary of New South Wales.

P. S.—My address in London, until the middle of May, will be—

Care of Agent General of New South Wales, 5 Westminster Chambers, Victoria street, S. W.

The honorable TIMOTHY O. HOWE,

Postmaster-General, Washington, D. C.

Copy of statement of the accountant, general post-office, Sydney.

The subsidy at present paid to the contractors for the San Francisco mail-service is, per annum—

|                          |         |
|--------------------------|---------|
| By New South Wales ..... | £40,000 |
| By New Zealand .....     | 32,500  |
| Total .....              | 72,500  |

The estimated net cost to this colony of the mail service via San Francisco is, for the year—

|            |         |
|------------|---------|
| 1874 ..... | £29,795 |
| 1875 ..... | 38,079  |
| 1876 ..... | 30,725  |
| 1877 ..... | 24,706  |
| 1878 ..... | 23,199  |
| 1879 ..... | 20,661  |
| 1880 ..... | 23,794  |
| 1881 ..... | 24,023  |

For eight years ..... 214,982

Showing an average net cost per annum of £26,873.

The proposal of the United States to pay $40,000 in equal proportions to the contracting colonies is equal to a contribution to each colony of £4,166 per annum; but this amount is voted for one year only; and it is not certain that the United Kingdom will not make some claim to the money as being a remission of the cost of overland transportation for which the London office is solely chargeable, without recourse to the colonies.

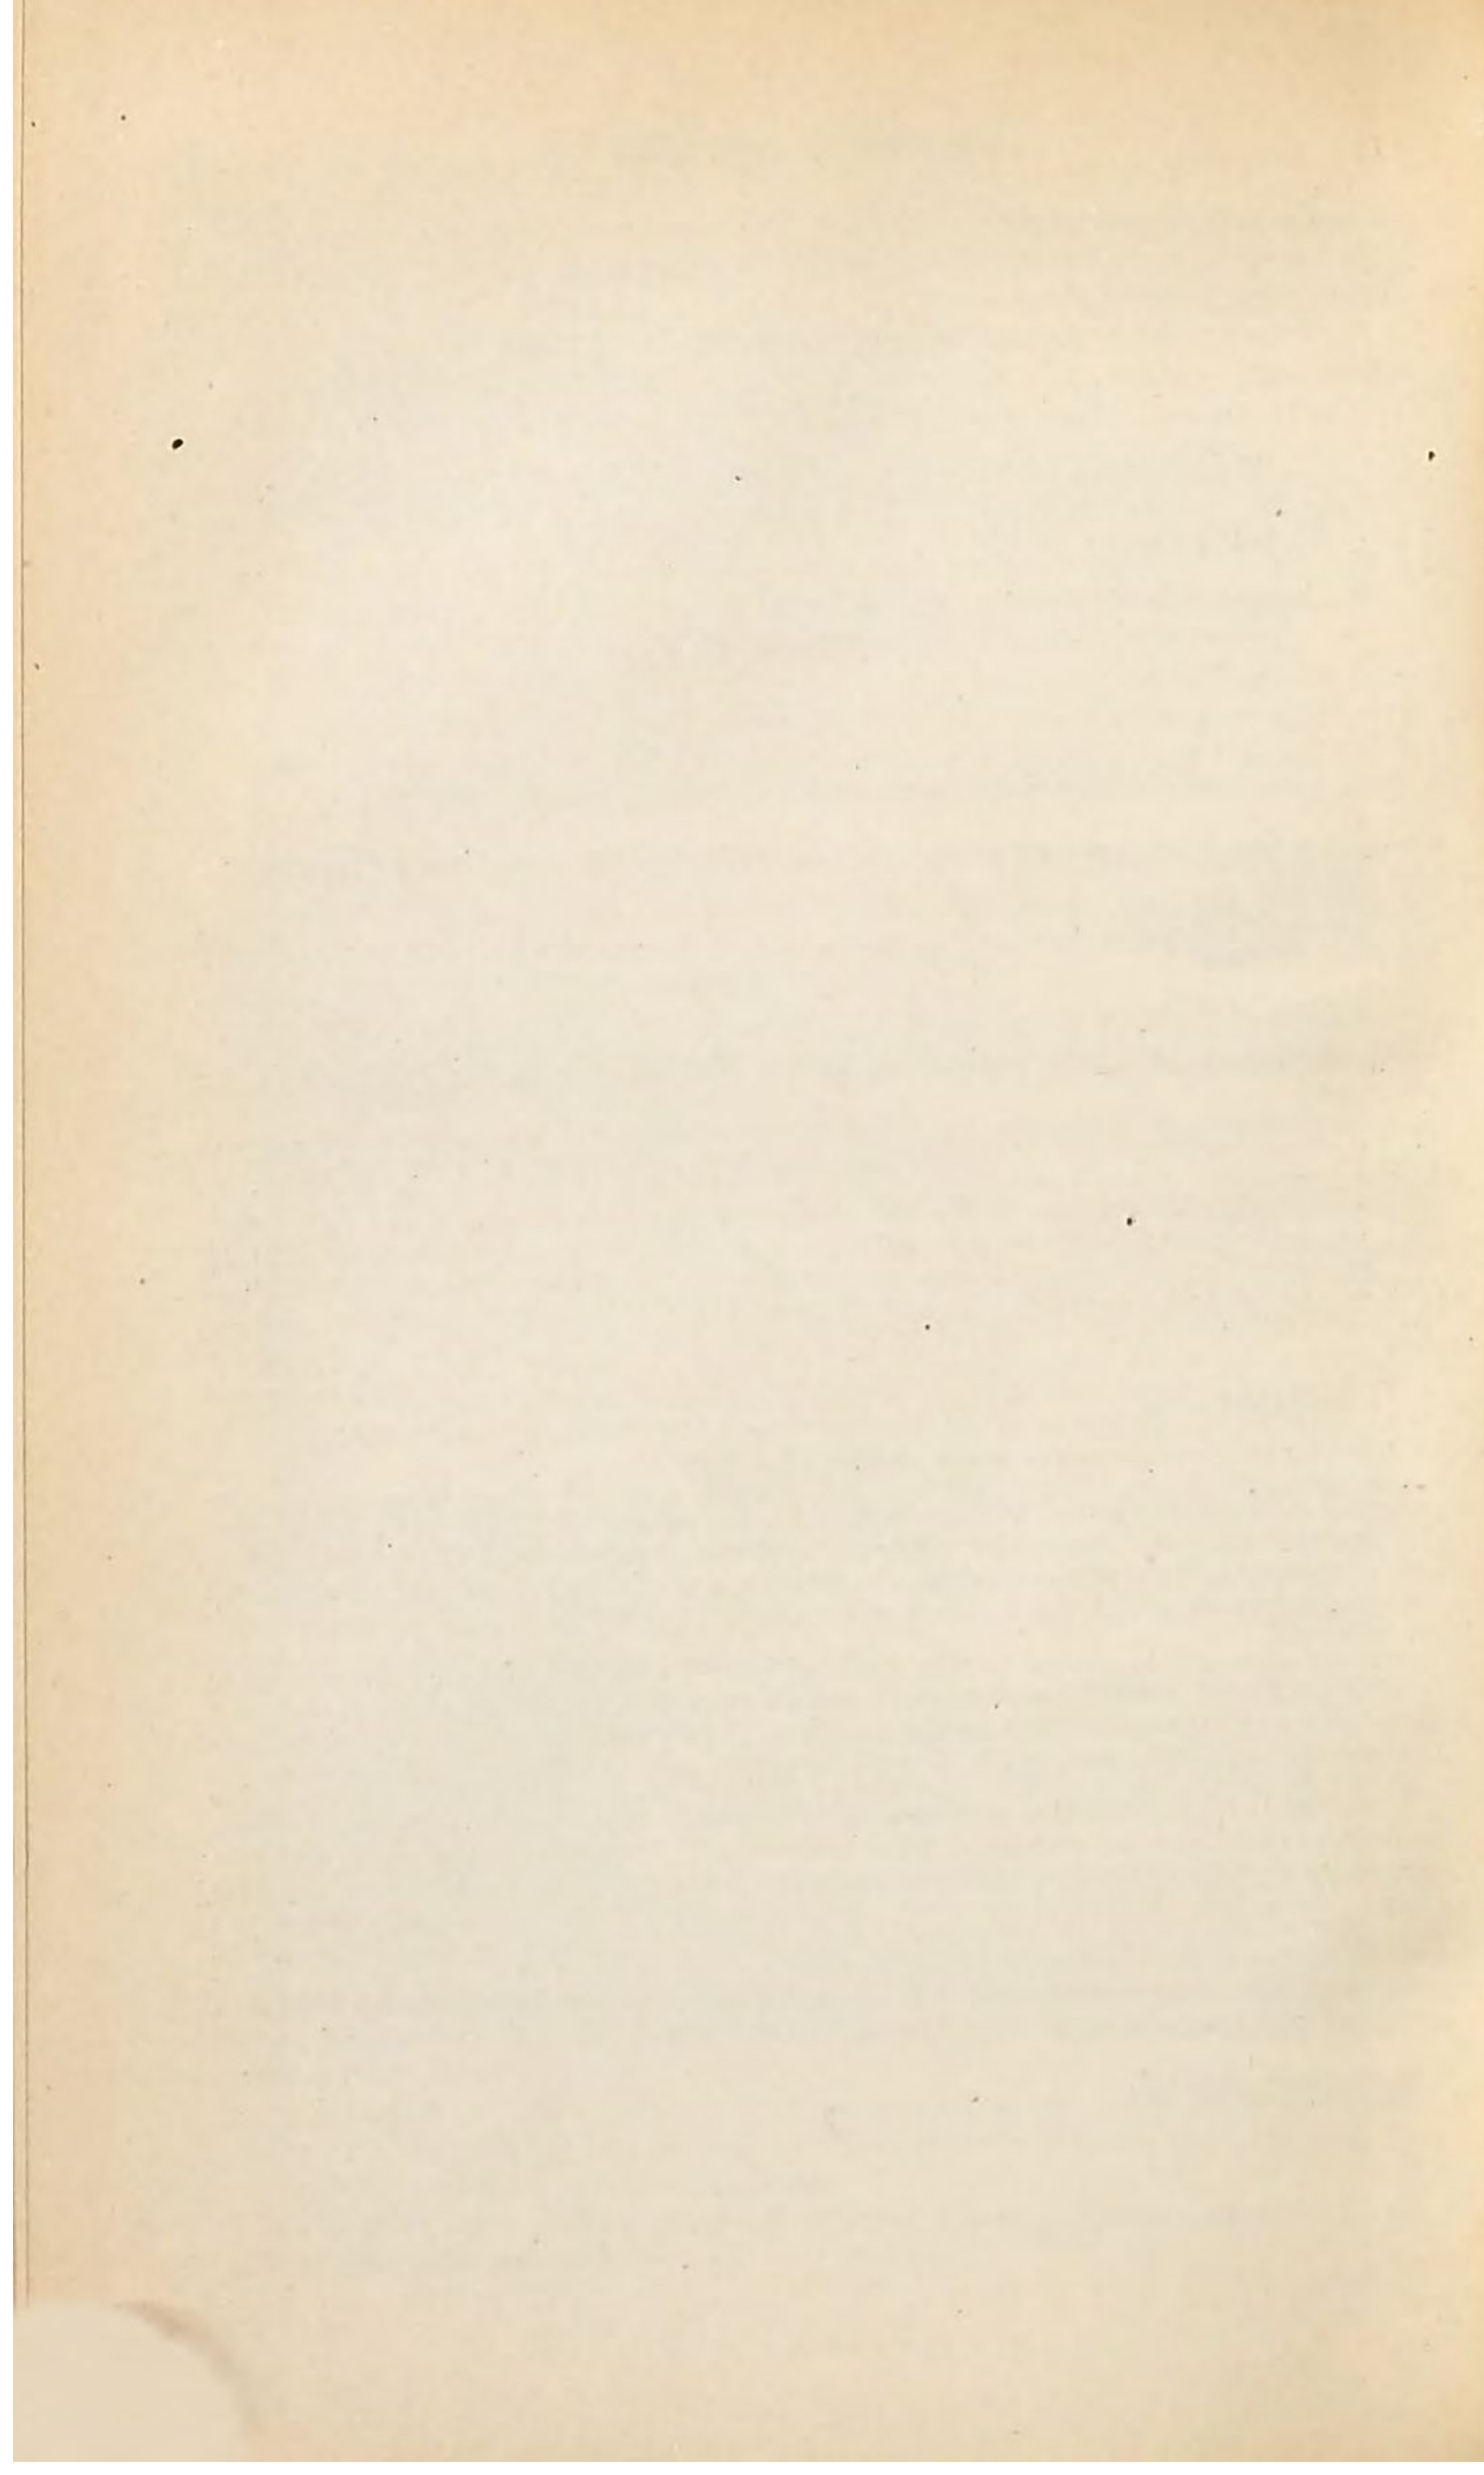

The net cost of this service to New Zealand in 1879 and 1880 is stated to be no more than £7,227 and £8,166, respectively; owing, no doubt, to the greater use made by that colony of the service than by the public of New South Wales, this being to New Zealand the quickest route to the United Kingdom, which it is not to this colony.

There appears to be but little prospect of this service becoming more remunerative to New South Wales; on the contrary, as it is likely that other new lines of steam communication between Europe and the colonies will be opened up, a yearly increasing amount of the New South Wales correspondence will be diverted from the San Francisco service; further, there is the prospect of the Australian colonies joining the Universal Postal Union at no distant date, when, the postage by all routes being assimilated, a very considerable amount of the correspondence now sent by San Francisco as being the cheaper route, will be sent via Brindisi as being the quicker and more frequent means of communication with Europe and the United Kingdom.

INCREASE OF THE CLERICAL FORCE IN THE PENSION OFFICE.

M E S S A G E

FROM THE

PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,

TRANSMITTING

A communication from the Secretary of the Interior covering estimate for an increase of the clerical force in the Pension Office.

---

MARCH 14, 1882.—Referred to the Committee on Appropriations and ordered to be printed.

---

The House of Representatives :

I inclose herewith an amended estimate for an increase in the clerical force of the office of the Commissioner of Pensions, which I recommend to your consideration.

CHESTER A. ARTHUR.

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
March 14, 1882.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
Washington, March 13, 1882.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith an amended estimate, made by the Commissioner of Pensions at the request of a joint subcommittee of the Committee on Pensions, for such an increase in the clerical force of his office as would enable him to settle the cases now pending, and, within a period of about three years from next July, reduce the business of the office to simple routine work.

The Commissioner's estimate meets with my approval, and I would respectfully suggest that it be forwarded to Congress.

Very respectfully,

S. J. KIRKWOOD,
Secretary.

The PRESIDENT.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, PENSION OFFICE,
Washington, D. C., March 13, 1882.

SIR: My estimate for salaries, &c., office of Commissioner of Pensions, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1883, which was forwarded in October last, was prepared without any intimation as to what the intention of Congress might be with regard to an increase of the force under my charge. I have been requested by a Joint Subcommittee on Pensions of both houses of Congress, to prepare and submit an estimate looking to an increase of force in this office, which in my judgment would be necessary and sufficient, in order to bring about as nearly as possible a settlement of claims now pending, so that within a suggested period of three years the business of the office may be confined to current work.

I have given the matter careful consideration, and beg leave to submit herewith an estimate, based upon the aforementioned request of said committee, upon the conditions aforesaid, for a force which in my opinion, if appointed soon, and properly instructed, and consisting principally of persons of capacity, education, and experience, sufficient for the peculiar work of this bureau, can within the period of three years suggested, say from the first of July proximo, bring up the business of the office so that the great mass of claims shall have been settled, and leaving only the current business, which can be easily kept up, thereafter, in my opinion by a force of 500 persons or less. I respectfully call your attention to the fact, that to secure the best results from so large a body of employés, ample facilities should be provided in the way of buildings, desk-room, &c., adapted to such purposes, and a sufficient force also be given to the office of the Adjutant-General and Surgeon-General of the Army, to promptly furnish the Pension Office with the requisite record evidence in each case, and also that sufficient additional force be given to the office of the Second Comptroller and Third Auditor of the Treasury, to properly audit and settle the accounts of the Pension agents, whose quarterly reports will be greatly swollen by the increased payments of pensions, rendered possible by the increased settlements of cases.

I have the honor therefore to submit herewith such an estimate, and to request that you will, at the earliest possible moment, forward the same through the proper channel to the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives.

I have the honor to request that, in order to promote the efficiency of the office, in making original appointments, the classes of two and above be filled as far as possible by promotion of experienced clerks from the lower grades, so that original appointments may be confined to the lower classes, thus affording an incentive to faithful and meritorious service by way of promotion.

Very respectfully,

WM. W. DUDLEY,
Commissioner of Pensions.

Hon. S. J. KIRKWOOD,
Secretary of the Interior.

An estimate for salaries, Office of the Commissioner of Pensions, the contingent expenses, and expenses for special examiners, amendatory of estimate forwarded to the Committee on Appropriations, House of Representatives, through the Hon.
